DEFENSIVE END BRADLEY CHUBB (Rd. 1, No. 5, North Carolina State University)

On how he fits into the Broncos defense

"I see myself doing my thing. I'm excited to get to work with guys like [OLB] Von [Miller] and [OLB] Shane [Ray]. We have to make sure that we have the most dangerous pass rush in the NFL. I'm looking forward to the opportunity and I can't wait."

On his nickname 'The Astronaut'

"It was my brother [who gave it to me] and his favorite rapper is Future. Future calls himself 'Astronaut' and my brother started calling himself one. He called me Astronaut Jr., and it just took off from there. We just kept using it. It started out as a little joke and it ended up being a name we called ourselves."

On when he met with the Broncos before the draft and if the team told him where he would fit

"I met with them one time at the combine and we didn't really talk about my fit. We looked at some of my plays from the season and I was running through what I did and what my responsibility was and all of that. It was a surprise, but I'm thrilled to be there because like I said, I'm ready to do my thing."

On if he expects to come in and start

"I expect to come in and contribute right away. If that's starting or coming off the sideline, I'm going to contribute either way. The end goal for me is definitely for me to be a starter. Like I said, I'm ready to contribute in any way I can."

On his emotions when received the call from the Broncos

"I had the phone on the table. I didn't even have to look at it and I saw a Denver number pop up and I was like, 'This is it.' It was just a great moment with all of my family as I was on the phone. It was a great moment and a lot of emotions came out. Mom and Dad started crying and I tried to hold it together."

On if he's versatile enough to play along the defensive line and stand up in a 3-4 scheme

"Yes, if you watch the film from last year I did it a lot. I stood up a lot and I was in three-point stance a lot. I'm used to both things and I'm ready to see where I fit."
